AMUSEMENTS

WALLACE REID AT THE BUTLER TODAY

Wallace Reid, in a spirited screen version of the stage farce, "Sick Abed," will be the attraction at the Butler today. The story concerns one Reginald Jay, who gets himself into laughable complications through trying to help an old friend of his father's out of a scrape.

The latter has earned the wrath of his jealous wife because he went to a roadhouse with a certain lady customer of the firm. Reginald is wanted as a star witness in the pending divorce suit. To escape, he feigns sick and a pretty nurse is assigned to attend him. Not only does Reggie put over the deception successfully, but wins the nurse in the bargain.

Vivacious Bebe Daniels figures as the nurse and an excellent comedy team-mate for Mr. Reid. It is a picture that is filled with action and comedy from beginning to end. A Ford Educational Weekly and a Mutt and Jeff comedy will also be shown. Tomorrow, William Farnum in "The Joyous Troublemakers" and a two-reel Sunshine comedy, "Hold Me Tight."

Coming Monday, Georges Carpentier, the French champion, in a big special feature, "The Wonder Man."

WATER RIGHT CASE IS HARD FOUGHT

J. G. Scruggs, state engineer, has gone to Las Vegas to attend a meeting of the commission named recently to study reclamation projects and possibilities along the Colorado river. He will also give some time and attention on this trip to the Williams-Spencer water right contest in Mineral county. This case is an exceedingly hard-fought one and strong affidavits in support of both parties have been coming to the engineer's office. Persons familiar with conditions on Dutch Creek believe that the engineer is to be pitted rather than envied in his task of deciding the points in controversy.

R. M. Severson, of Reno, traveling freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific railroad, is spending a few days in Tonopah on business for his company.

Mr. Severson says that business men throughout the state are using caution in buying and that all seem to be waiting for the new administration to take office before they expand their businesses. However, he expects to see a great renewal of every activity in the state before many months.

WINGFIELD AND DOYLE BUY BANK

The Bank of Sparks has passed under the control of two Reno men, George Wingfield and W. H. Doyle, says the Journal. They assume an active part in the management at once. One of their first acts will be to increase the capital and surplus from the present $25,000 to $50,000.

E. R. Simms, at present connected with the Reno National bank, has been slated for the post of cashier of the Bank of Sparks, while W. H. Bridges, who has been acting as cashier, will transfer his banking connection to another part of the state while continuing as a director of the Sparks bank.

The new management announces that there will be no change in the business methods of the bank. It will retain its membership in the Reno Clearing House association.

While the coming of the new management promises a closer spirit of co-operation between Reno and Sparks, the Sparks bank will retain complete independence and will be in no way a branch of any other bank.

Lahontan Co. Receives Oil Prospecting Permit

FALLON, Nev., Nov. 9.—A. H. Howe received a wire from Washington last Friday in effect that the application for an oil prospecting permit by the Lahontan Oil syndicate has been granted and signed. This removes the last obstacle from the path of the Lahontan. Some time ago they purchased and erected one of the finest standard rigs in the field. Every part is new and no expense spared to insure good and rapid drilling. Then came a delay from want of oil tanks and some other appliances. These were supplied after delay and the drill spudded in. This had hardly been accomplished when the news came that the secretary of the interior had granted their application for oil leasing permit. The Lahontan now has plain sailing with everything set for very effective work. As soon as the machinery is running smoothly three shifts will be put on and the drill kept pounding down day and night.

The Big Four has made good speed in getting down 500 feet. The drill is in blue clay, the quicksands having been soon passed through after the sand pump was put into commission. The Wheeler Oil syndicate has made quick work from the 635-foot less than two weeks ago to 750 feet at the time of writing.

Nichols, McBain & Nichols, the new Fallon firm of stock brokers, have started off by placing a large block of the newly organized Nichols Oil company. The new company has large holdings scattered all over the Fallon field.

The Fallon Pacific Oil company has received its prospecting permit and has filed the bonds necessary when prospecting on reclamation ground. On these lands the government is now demanding a $5000 bond in place of the $1000 required on other government lands. This is to protect the government against damage to the lands in case it should later be desirable to put the lands under cultivation.

The Fallon Oil & Gas company is down 175 feet, the bit being in blue shale. This corresponds with the log of the discovery well in which blue shale was cut into at 171 feet. So far in drilling well No. 2 there has been no material change in the formation from that of No. 1.

The advent of Harry Stimler of Tonopah means much to the Fallon field. It not only brings in new capital, but Stimler is a great believer in publicity and not only understands its importance but backs it up with cash. His new company is known as the Boston Oil & Gas company and holds a prospecting permit on a section near the Fallon Oil & Gas company's discovery well. Another new combination is that of E. P. Strassburg, True Vincell, H. M. Sterns and T. W. Clark, who have a lease on the Vincell ranch of about 10,000 acres. Drilling will begin at once with standard rig on the ground.

Captain Alex Prosky has incorporated the Petrol Basin Oil company and will soon have a standard rig on the ground. Captain Prosky is an oil man of long experience gained in the many oil fields of the United States.
